Dec 17, 1603

The Imperial Mathematician and Astronomer Royal Johannes Kepler was sitting through the night high above the MOLDAVA in HRADČYNY in Prague observing with his modest telescope
the approach of two planets - Saturn &
Jupiter within the constellation Pisces Was this the Star of Bethlehem? i.e. conjunction of Jupiter & Saturn on same degree longitude

According to orthopedic table it must have been 65c

In 1925 woman who R. Schmale

Herod executed two of his 16 sons.
He had long ago slain their mother, the high-born MARIAMNE - for plotting to seize the Throne

7 BC

Alexander and Aristobulus became hostile in their attitudes toward Herod, so he ordered them to be executed by strangulation.

Immediately after their execution Herod made up his mind will naming Antipater as sole heir, and in event of Antipater's death Herod (Philip) was to be his concern.

A 5th will was made in which Lord

passed over the next two eldest sons,

Archibald and Philip, because Archibald had influenced him against them, and he selected Antyos as one who

The emperor Augustus is reputed to have made adjustments to the Julian Cal. rendered necessary by mishandling of the intercalations in the 38 yrs (X) since its adoption. MACROBIUS gives evidence which indicates that SEXTILIS was renamed by the Consul ASINIUS GALLUS and MARCIUS CENSORINUS. The idea of renaming months after emperors appears to have continued, for MACROBIUS and others say that CALIGULA changed the name of Sept. to GERMANICUS in memory of his father and that DOMITIAN deposed that Oct.

should be called after himself. There is not a deed seem to have been admitted after the death of these emperors.

7 BC

By the birth of Christ, 7 BC, the Chinese superpower encompassed more than 70 million people in what they called Middle Earth.

Around the Mediterranean Sea the Romans had imitated Etruscan technology and alphabet, Greek seamanship and arts, and Persian crucifixions to put together an empire only a little less populous than the Chinese, although industrially outclassed by it. The empire showed the first bright idea about energy since draft animals, namely, that running water could turn a wheel.

Running into contradictions, but their origins are obscure.

Christianity is here dated by the birth of Christ. because of its calendrical significance: the date adopted follows a persuasive astronomical analysis by D.W. HUGHES (The Star of Bethlehem Mystery, Dent, 1979). Later key event was the legalization of Christianity in the Roman Empire (AD 313)
